DANIEL BUTLER-JANE CARLSON COLLECTION

COLLECTION HISTORY

In 2001, Jane Carlson, great granddaughter of Daniel Webster Butler who owned Butler's Point (later Juniper Point) in Woods Hole, loaned a family photo album to Macy Lawrence of PhotoArk, who had digitized the WHHM photo collection and had him scan the contents, as well as some other peripheral material about Woods Hole. These images are contained on CD 41 and its accompanying notebook where they are printed out. There is also a printed version of the album kept in the Archives.

There is a xerox copy of the Butler album which was not completely digitized (included travel photos).

Jane gave a Conversation in June 2002 about the album and her family history, joined by Macy Lawrence and his brother Fred Lawrence Jr. who had grown up in Woods Hole knowing Jane's great-uncle Wallace Butler as well as other members of the family.

Biographical information on Daniel Webster Butler was also given to the WHHM Collection by Jane Carlson after the Conversation, June 24, 2002 (dated September 24, 2002). Handwritten and transcribed by SFW into Word, 2019.
