GIFFORD AND GRIFFIN FAMILY COLLECTION

HISTORY AND SCOPE

This collection is made up of several an older collections with miscellaneous material on the Gifford and Griffin families, a newer collection donated in 1989 (89-1) and several even newer collections donated in 1992 (Accession Numbers 92-27A and 92-27B) and 1995 (95-12). There is a great deal of information on the painter Franklin Lewis Gifford. Part of his work is in the collection of the Woods Hole Public Library and on display in the library building.

Ellen Franklin Gifford married George Appleton Griffin. The Griffins originated in the Boston area and the Appletons were a prominent Boston family. The Gifford family is one of the original settlers of the Woods Hole area. The history of the family has been skillfully written about by Deborah Griffin Scanlon in Sprintsail, Volume 25, Number 2 (a copy is included).

Included with the photos, bibles and other books and ephemera is a collection of ink on paper surveys, blueprint copies and other copies of plans of Quissett and Woods Hole properties.

A note on wording in the surveys and deeds: the Giffords owned a vast area of Woods Hole, extending from the present Gardiner Road up the hill to the highlands which have now become the Woods Hole Golf Club course. The Gardiner Road area was known as "Gifford Lower Field" (sometimes abbreviated as GLF); the area from Buzzards Bay Avenue to High Street was know as "Gifford Upper Field." The Gifford Upper Field area was also known as "San Diego Heights" or "California Heights." Barzillai Gifford went to California in the Gold Rush in 1849. Upon his return he bought the Upper Field from family members and divided and developed it into lots. The development's name reflected his experiences in California and has forever given an exotic aura to this area of a small New England village.
